

California Casino News

December 14-December 31, 2020

California 'Ghost Mall' to be redeveloped by casino next door

A mall in Elk Grove, Calif., whose completion was stalled by the 2008 recession and then left vacant again when new owner Howard Hughes Corp. couldn't make a go of it is getting a third roll of the dice.

Click here to view article

A Holiday Message from National Indian Gaming Association Chairman Ernie Stevens, Jr

Click here to view article

It is hard to believe that we are rapidly coming to a close of this year and all of us have been through so much change and growth together. As we will celebrate the Christmas holiday and just days later, the beginning of a new year, we can all agree that 2020 has been quite the year, and clearly, the 2020 holiday season will be unlike any other in modern history.

A Bay Area casino planned a private 4,000-person party. Then word got out.

A social media announcement turned into a PR nightmare for one Bay Area casino that has now decided to cancel a huge New Year's Eve party after an outpouring of concern from health officials and locals.

Click here to view article

What casinos built and opened in 2020 and what's coming in 2021

Click here to view article

Southern California's tribal casinos have been in an expansion boom in recent years with multimillion dollar projects that have added lavish new hotel wings, expanded gaming floors, restaurants and more to those properties.