In California, Sports Betting Giants Push Mobile

BetMGM, DraftKings and FanDuel have added their support to a ballot measure that would allow mobile sports betting in California. With the latest plan, there could be three competing sports betting measures on the November 2022 ballot.

The nation's largest betting companies want to qualify the measure for the 2022 ballot, where it would compete with a tribal proposal that would allow sports betting only at tribal casinos and racetracks—but not online or at card clubs. The big-name sportsbooks don't want to stop sports betting from being legal in tribal casinos, they want to expand on it to allow mobile sportsbooks, which the tribal proposal pointedly does not do.
