

California Casino News

March 25-31, 2019

In Southern California The San Manuel Band of Mission Indians has a new CEO in charge of both tribal government and business operations. Also, San Manuel Casino has a new general manager in charge of all activity within the Highland casino as well as enhancing the experience for its team members and guests. As well in Southern California the celebrations began for The Sycuan Band of Kumeyaay Nation completing its 500,000-square-foot, $260 million expansion and the first casino and resort to open as a smoke-free establishment! Congratulations to The Sycuan Band of Kumeyaay Nation.

San Manuel's new CEO settles into role, sets goals

Click here to view article

The San Manuel Band of Mission Indians has a new CEO in charge of both tribal government and business operations in Loren Gill. And while he may be new to the role, he already has a feel for what it will be like.

Sycuan Casino Unveils Resort Expansion, New Restaurants

Click here to view article

A pricey, ambitious expansion project two years in the making, Sycuan Casino in San Diego's East County will unveil its new look Wednesday, which includes a 12-story resort, a lazy river, and a lineup of fresh restaurants.

San Manuel Casino names new general manager

San Manuel Casino has a new general manager in former Chief Operating Officer Peter Arceo, officials announced Friday, March 29. Arceo will be in charge of all activity within the Highland casino as well as enhancing the experience for its team members and guests, according to a casino news release.

Click here to view article